Roller Shutter Doors

The roller shutter is one of the most versatile garage door systems on the market today. The lack of internal tracking mechanism maximises the available space inside the garage. The vertical opening action means the door can be opened or closed when the vehicle is parked tight against roller door, both outside or inside the garage.

Roller shutter garage doors are available as insulated double skinned aluminium and non-insulated single skin steel with the option of manual or remote control electric operation. We also supply roller shutter doors for commercial and industrial use as well as security shutters for doors and windows.

- Roller doors are suitable for all types of openings and available in almost any size and any application
- Particularly suitable where internal or drive space is limited
- All roller doors are purpose made to exact size
- Wide range of colours including beautiful woodgrain laminate finishes
- Varying roller shutter doors available for domestic, commercial and industrial applications
- For those needing the very highest security specification, an insulated roller garage door is now available that has been tested and approved to official UK Police & Insurance standards. We also supply steel roller doors with the same security certification for large openings and door and window security

Sectional Doors

Sectional garage doors have become one of the most popular and practical choices for a safe, very secure and easy to use versatile garage door system. Opening and closing in individual panel sections, operating vertically without any swing out from the structural opening and tracking mechanism at all. Because of this operation almost any shape of garage opening can be installed to, i.e. arched, angled corners, etc.

The doors make full use of the space in front of or behind your garage opening as they all open vertically. This mechanism is ideal for shorter driveways, garages next to pathways and internal space problems with higher 4 x 4 and taller vehicles. We also supply commercial specification doors for high use or very large openings.

Up & Over Doors

The economical up & over garage doors are still by far the most common widely used type of garage door with the two options of retractable or canopy mechanism. The retractable garage door has horizontal tracks that extend back into the garage with tension springs are on the frame legs. This type of door is suitable for both electric and manual operation.

The canopy garage door has vertical tracks on the frame legs, a torsion spring along the frame head, and is attached to the door by cables which wind up on drums or cones. The canopy type garage door is suitable generally for manual operation although in some instances can have an electric operator fitted with an accessory called a bow arm converter.

- Purpose made sizes available in a wide range of designs.
- Manufactured in a choice of timber, GRP, UPVC and steel.
- Glazing options for many designs in all materials
- Wicket doors options on certain models and sizes
- Range of powder coated strong steel fixing frames
- Many enhancements offered including glazing panels, hardware to imitate traditional side hinged doors and a superb array of handles.

Side Hinged Doors

Practical and versatile the side hinged garage door offers a solution to so many problems that prevent the installation of any other type of door. An opening outwards side hinged door will not be impeded by consumer units, gas meters or soil pipes housed in the garage.

The 2/3rd 1/3rd split opening doors are especially useful in situations where the garage is not being used for a vehicle and frequent access is required. Perhaps the garage is used as a large storeroom for bikes, toys, etc. and very often freezers or laundry facilities as well as workshop, gym or general room.

Using timber you can totally individualise your garage doors as well as choose from a wide range of traditional standard designs. You can have them manufactured to your own design from a choice of hardwoods with either a modern or traditional feel according to the surroundings and your personal preference. There is a wide range of beautifully crafted furniture, again in traditional or contemporary style. The steel and GRP ranges are slightly more limited in design but still have purpose made sizes and window options available. Panelled designs are common in steel and considerably less money than timber equivalents.

- Traditional and modern style doors in steel, timber, GRP and aluminium
- Double skinned aluminium insulated doors options
- Large choice of hardware options
- Steel sub frame systems available on all doors for easy installation
- New high security locking systems available

Specialist Doors

What normally determines the need for a specialist garage door? A desire for a particular style? Planning restrictions? A very large garage with an opening that is far from standard sized? An oddly shaped opening? Whatever the reason The Garage Door Centre can genuinely provide suggestions and solutions for every type of property.

Perhaps your home is shouting out for a stylish designer sectional door with stainless elements and matching front entrance doors. Unusual glazing options or maybe you are looking for timber garage doors in bespoke designs. Look at the incredibly impressive Rundum Meir doors. They specialise in round the corner and overhead sectional doors manufactured from a range of durable hardwoods including exotic Iroko, European Oak and sustainable Sapele that closely resembles mahogany. You can design your own panels or choose from their impressive style selector. You might be searching for opulence and uniqueness - view the fabulously elegant Silvelox range, Italian designed and manufactured to the highest standards.

Specialist doors are not just about visual appearances. Performance may be a factor. Or perhaps the garage openings are unusually large or high. Maybe a high level of security is needed.

The Garage Door Centre specialises in all these unique garage doors and has a portfolio stretching back over 25 years of non-standard installations. We have the experience, the expertise and in-depth product knowledge to carry out unique projects right from concept through to installation.

Awnings and Canopies

Undoubtedly The Garage Door Centre offer the highest calibre and most stunning range of retractable awnings currently available on the market today.

If you have a requirement for a retractable awning, let us know how you envisage its usage and we will guide you to the right product in a domestic or commercial application.

If you prefer the appeal of a fabric awning over a terrace cover to extend your patio season, we have a range of fabulous systems from several suppliers offering framework from aluminium, power-coated in a range of colours, to attractive timber, which allow the fabric awning to retract out using horizontal guides. This added stability increases the wind class of the awning. Awnings fabrics have a very high water resistant quality but if you would like to be shower proof on your patio we can offer a system with a water proof cover. Please ask us about a Markilux Pergola, or a Pattiola or Arbor system. If you have ideas on a grand scale, please ask us to introduce you to our Med Elite shading system, a truly remarkable wooden structure, attached to your building or free standing, with a completely retractable, waterproof fabric roof, integral guttering and completely zipped side screens to protect you from the elements and offer privacy.

Whatever your shading requirement is - however you would like to use your patio we can advise you on the right product. If you want to extend your outdoor season you can opt for offer sun/wind/shower protection.

The main product manufacturers that we supply and install for include Markilux the undisputed leader in the market offer a whole range of awnings up to almost 14m width. The product range is so versatile - the Markilux 6000 is the height of luxury and together with its Shade Plus drop down valance can enclose the patio on one side to make a garden room, for shade and privacy, then fully retract for the winter until next year. The range of lighting and heating options really extend the use of the patio. Markilux have the most stylish and far and way best value for money awning in their 990 which is fully cassette up to 5m width and 3m projection.

We also are a stockist for Weinor who are a well respected quality German engineered awnings offering a multitude of cassette colours.

If you need an awning in a hurry - we have a fabulous (although limited range) from SWS Lakeland that we can supply in just 2 weeks.

Glass Rooms

The stunning aesthetics that can be achieved with the stylish array of finishes puts glass rooms in a class of their own. People are moving away from the traditional conservatory designs to aspire to their own individuality with contemporary products.

Weinor is the market leader in the UK for this quality product. The Weinor Glass Room provides the most contemporary and stylish design aesthetic. Robust aluminium frame in a wide selection of colours, 10mm toughened single glazed glass roof. The sides and front of the glass room can be configured in a number of variations, one or two static side or both sliding to retract back to one pane's width. The front can slide in one direction back to one pane's width (up to 6.6m) or can bi-part. With retracting glass and inset legs at the front it is possible to achieve a glass garden room that opens up to give unobstructed access from the house to the garden in fine weather.

There are many layouts, configurations and finishes of the structure to suit your home. The Glass Room can be enhanced with stylish lighting bars in the roof and the Weinor Sottezza awning that sits fully flush under the glass roof and retracts into it’s cassette when not required. Similar flush cassetted blinds can be used at the sides and front for shade and privacy.

This beautiful addition to your home does not require foundations and is installed directly onto your existing deck or patio area. Samson provide a professional consultation service to help you achieve your design and together with Weinor produce accurate computer generation specification to realise your ambition of a luxury glass room. We provide an extensive laser level survey to ensure a smooth installation.

The Weinor Glass Room really is the best of a covered enclosed patio for use in inclement weather and a shaded terrace cover giving open access to your garden in fair weather.

Door & Gate Operators

The Garage Door Centre supplies and installs electric operators for all types of garage doors and only uses top branded products as we feel the installation should only be carried out once and then operate perfectly every time.

There are a lot of cheap, noisy non-European, non-compliant electric operators available in the U.K. through various sources but buyers should be very aware of what you may be purchasing as it may well be illegal or dangerous especially if incorrectly specified for the garage door type. The electric operator should ideally be tested and certified to operate with the garage door it is fitting to.

The Garage Door Centre can offer a whole range of different electric operators for steel, GRP and timber side hinged garage doors and there are 2 main types used. One utilises the standard boom type operator used for all other types of doors along with a conversion kit and the other type uses electromechanical or hydraulic piston driven units very similar to the type used for electric swing gates.

The benefits are obvious - convenience, security and safety, all now available in many excellent state of the art electric operators produced by many manufacturers.

- Remotely open and close door from the comfort of your car
-Courtesy light automatically illuminates on operation
-Range of hand held and affixed security opening mechanisms
-Can be fitted to new or existing doors or gates in most cases
-Extra security options available including fingerprint recognition
-Virtually silent operation from 24v motor technology
-Integration with Homelink and other home automation control systems and products
